Like Jehovah and Jesus, which are 400 years old names created by man to continue the Jewish reverence of hiding The Creators personal and proper Name and His Sons personal and proper Name.

Jehovah comes from two words Yahn and Hovah. There are no J's in Hebrew or Greek so J's can not be in Yahuweh's Name or Yahushua's Name. Names are always Transliterated never Translated like Jehovah and Jesus which are Translations not Transliterations of YHWH yod-heh waw-heh, Yahuweh and YHWSA yod-hey-waw-shin-ayin, Yahuwshuwa' The Anointed MessiYah. Any reference to The Creator of the World must always have YAHU at the beginning or in people's names at the end Yah. Never Jah or Yeh only YAH is how you know it is His Personal and Proper Name as He gave us in Scripture, 7000 time in the Torah, Prophets and Psalms and hundred's of time's in the Witness's.

Yahn or Yahu, Strong's Number 3080 is the shortened form of Yahuweh's personal and proper name in every language in the earth. Yahu gave us His personal and proper Name for all peoples, times and all generations, Yahuweh is His only Name attached to words and names which tell us about His Character Attributes found through out Scripture.

Hovah Strong's Number 1943 means "Mischief, Disorder, Ruin, and Disaster. So saying Jehovah is like saying the god of mischief and disorder, No one in their right mind would call Yahuweh that name and neither would He.

Adonia Strong's Number 0136 is another word/title which has been used to replace Yahuweh's personal and proper Name with the English translation of Adonia which is LORD/Lord/God. Lord is Ba'al's title/name stated as Lord Ba'al, meaning master and lord. Yahuweh would never call Himself or His MessiYah master or lord. For He desires only personal, intimate and familiar relationship with His family on a first name basis.

The Name Jesus is from the Druid Religion;

The unity of the Godhead was the very soul and center of Druidism, and this unity was a Trinity.

Procoius of Caesarea, A.D. 530, states :

"Jesus/Hesus, Taran, Bel - One only God. All Druids acknowledge one Lord God alone."(59)

The indisputable fact is that the Druids proclaimed to the universe, 'The Lord our God is One!' WHEN CHRISTIANITY PREACHED JESUS AS GOD, DRUIDISM HAD THE MOST FAMILIAR NAME OF ITS OWN MESSIAH DEITY PRESENTED in KJV as the bible's messiah replacing Yahushua personal and proper Name, Yahu Salvation with the Druid Messiah's name. Druid's god was The Dark Horned One. The Druids believed in a supreme god, whom they called Be' al, meaning "the source of all beings."

In the ancient British tongue Jesus had never assumed its Greek, Latin or Hebrew form, but remains the pure Druidic Yesu.

Preface:

At their best, translations are a compromise between attempts at word-for-word literalism and loose thought-for-thought interpolations. Either way, much of the intended message is lost or misrepresented for the sake of readability, brevity, or familiarity. So you will have to dig for truth the hard way. We're going to work for it. The key words in most passages will be amplified from the original languages. Amplification is a process whereby many words are used to properly convey the full meaning and nuances of the original term as it was known and used in its time, context, and culture. If a Hebrew or Greek word requires a paragraph to adequately communicate its meaning, as histemi does for example, you will find the required background, etymology, and shadings. In other words, we are going to scratch well below the surface. This will require you to read most passages several times to fully appreciate what Yahweh is saying. To understand God's perspective, you are going to have to want to know it.

Therefore, we will not rely upon the LV, KJV, NKJV, ASB, NASB, IV, NIV, NLT, or any other popular Scriptural rendition. All English translations vary from poor to horrible. There isn't any worth recommending.

The reason that all of these translations are all errant and inadequate is that they all come from the same polluted well, and familiarity sells. A careful comparison proves that every English Bible is actually a revision of a translation of the Roman Catholic Vulgate, regardless of the protestations they have made to the contrary—something which will be demonstrated in due time. Jerome's Latin text was a blend of Old Latin manuscripts of the Renewed Covenant, which were so varied they had lost their credibility, as well as a blend of wildly divergent renderings of Septuagint translations of the Hebrew Scriptures. This blending of errant manuscripts served as "The Holy Bible" for one-thousand years. Then in 1384 John Wycliffe created the first common language rendition for the European community by translating the Latin Vulgate into a primitive version of English. The King James Bible is nothing more than a revision five times over of that text.

Until recently, the Textus Receptus was touted as the foundation of English translations of the Renewed Covenant, and yet it was an intellectual fraud and financial hoax. In October of 1515CE, a Dutch secular humanist, Desiderius Erasmus, and Johann Froben, a publisher of low repute, took five months to mark up, adding and taking away from, a highly flawed 12th century Medieval Greek manuscript and set type directly from those arbitrary scribbles. Then in the places where they didn't have possession of a Greek text, they filled in the blanks by translating the Latin Vulgate. Worse, when Roman Catholics protested that some of their pet passages weren't included, to quiet their critics, Erasmus and Froben added them without a legitimate basis.

In the absence of a viable competitor, the highly errant rendering was said to be "a text received by all in which we have nothing changed or corrupted." This rubbish was thus rendered "the Textus Receptus." And while the proof is overwhelming that the King James, which was first printed in 1609CE for purely political reasons, was actually a revision of a Latin translation, its authors attributed their text to the highly flawed Textus Receptus. The KJV in turn became so popular; no English translation has yet been offered which dares to correct its familiar phrasing of the most memorable passages.

It wasn't until 1707 that the Textus Receptus was challenged—effectively undermining the basis of the Reformation and Protestantism. John Mill, a fellow of Queens College in Oxford, invested 30 years comparing the Textus Receptus to some one hundred Greek manuscripts in his possession. In so doing, he discovered and documented 30,000 variations between them. And even this was just the tip of the iceberg. Known variations between the oldest manuscripts of the Renewed Covenant, and those which publishers now claim serve as the basis for their translations, exceed 300,000. (Even though some improvements were made in the later Westcott and Hort (1881) and Nestle-Aland Greek New Testament (1898 (also known as Novum Testamentum Graece)), both texts remain more in sync with the Textus Receptus than with the earliest extant (and recently discovered and published) Greek manuscripts.) So while Christian pastors hold up their favorite English translation of the Bible and proclaim that it is "the inerrant word of God," factually, the book they are touting isn't even remotely consistent with the earliest witnesses.

This same issue exists with the Hebrew text—albeit to a lesser degree. All English translations claim to be based upon the Masoretic, an 11th century vocalization of Babylonian Hebrew composed by politically- and religiously-minded, and very misguided, rabbis. Their copyedits of Yahweh's Word are now legend, revealed for all to see courtesy of the 3rd-century BCE through 1st-century CE, Dead Sea Scrolls. For example, in the Great Isaiah Scroll in which the entire text has been preserved, we find that the oldest witness and the Masoretic differ by 14% with regard to the textual root of the words alone. To this we must add errant vocalization which significantly alters the meaning of the words God chose.

As with the 69 first-, second-, and third-century manuscripts which have been discovered of the Renewed Covenant, translators have universally ignored what the Qumran Scrolls reveal because they are bad for business. As every good marketing person knows, profits are a function of familiarity. And truth has seldom been popular.

There simply isn't any possibility of getting a publisher to print an accurate rendering of Scripture, because as businessmen, they recognize something this unfamiliar wouldn't be accepted, and thus would not sell in sufficient quantities to justify the costs.

While God's words in the Torah, Prophets, and Psalms, and Yahshua's words recorded in the eyewitness accounts, were inspired, and while most of them have been preserved and are known, translations are strictly human affairs. As such, you must search for Scriptural presentations rendering each word accurately using the oldest manuscripts and best research tools. For this purpose you will have to rely upon:

Therefore, you will have to search and find a complete translation of each Hebrew and Greek word, all rendered in accordance with the definitions and synonyms provided by the world's most distinguished linguistic scholars. Most researchers will have a dozen or more scholastic tomes open, surrounding them on revolving Jeffersonian carousels, and another score of research tools electronically linked to the text via Logos interactive software. It's a lot of information, so recognize that in the quest to be thorough and accurate, fluidity will suffer. Scripture will not roll off the tongue in familiar word patterns. But you will know the truth—and the truth will set you free, as God revealed it.
